TO: M.F.A. Graduate Students

Welcome to the Department of Art! We look forward to your participation in our M.F.A. program.

PLEASE READ THIS CAREFULLY.

We have included information in this handbook regarding important deadlines, regulations, teaching assistant information, and your thesis project/M.F.A. exhibition guidelines as well as course requirements.

We welcome your questions, contributions, suggestions, corrections, and additions to both this handbook and the program in general, as we strive to make it as strong as possible.

Sincerely,

Megan Koth

1st year grads who are not yet California residents for tuition purposes should by now be able to submit a new SLR (Statement of Legal Residence) for the upcoming Fall 2024 term as California Residents. See page 22 for details as well as the residency website / office of the registrar.
PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

A minimum of 72 graduate-level units:
Seventy-two quarter units are required: 36 in Graduate Studio courses (Art 244, 261 and 591), 12 units in Theory and Criticism (Art 245 or 594, or approved graduate level theory from related departments), 12 units of M.F.A. Thesis Preparatory (8 units of Art 593, along with 4 units of ART260: Thesis Exhibition taken in Spring of final year); and 12 units of electives (related graduate-level courses selected from various disciplines). Note that “graduate-level” courses are those 200-level or above. For example, “ART130” would be an undergraduate class, as 130 is lower than 200. Undergraduate classes need to be approved by the faculty graduate advisor in order to qualify for graduate-level credit, and need to be enrolled in under a graduate-level course stand-in (such as ART591, ART595, or that department’s own equivalent if the class is in a department other than ART) rather than being enrolled in directly in GOLD under the undergraduate course number.

A 12-unit course load per quarter is required for all full-time graduate students and therefore is considered the minimum schedule. Each unit requires approximately four to five hours of work per week. Two years of residency are required for the M.F.A. degree.

Graduate Review:
During the Spring quarter of the first year of residency, graduate students are reviewed by the full faculty through open studio visits, group exhibition and/or presentations (which are augmented by written statements) and a vote is taken regarding advancement to the second year of study. Advancement to candidacy criteria: first year coursework completed, interacted with faculty on a regular basis, invited faculty into their studios on a regular basis, became a dynamic part of the graduate community, studio or praxis work has assumed a trajectory of exploration and growth, and TA work, if relevant. Prior to the review, students form a two-person preliminary thesis committee, and prepare a 1-2 page artist’s statement to be distributed to the faculty, along with a powerpoint-style presentation. Following the review, each student must meet with their preliminary thesis committee to review specific feedback and faculty critiques. Students who fail to receive a favorable majority from the faculty are placed on monitored status for a second review in the fall. If progress is still unsatisfactory, students may be detained in their advancement towards graduation or asked to leave the program.

Graduate Committees:
By the end of each student’s fourth quarter of study, they nominate a minimum of three faculty members to their M.F.A. thesis committee (at least 2 of which must be Art Department Ladder Faculty.) One member of your committee may be an Art continuing lecturer or a ladder faculty from another department. The maximum total size of the thesis committee is 4 members (including the Chair), where a maximum of 3 members can be ladder faculty from the Department of Art. The thesis committee, headed by the committee chair, supervises the development of research and work leading to the student's final thesis project/exhibition and written thesis document. Faculty who will be on sabbatical for the majority of a student's tenure in the program may not serve on M.F.A. committees. In addition, faculty who will not be present during the student's final Spring quarter are not able to serve.

Continuing lecturers may serve on committees should they wish to (if approved by the Graduate Committee) and may constitute an additional fourth faculty member, as can a ladder faculty from another department. However, neither a Lecturer nor a faculty from another department may chair a committee. Please note that lecturers are compensated on a per-course basis, and thus receive no compensation for departmental service including serving on thesis committees.
Thesis Project:
In their last year, students produce a thesis exhibition, and a written thesis document addressing the development, content, and issues of the work. The written thesis (approximately 7,000-8,000 words, or minimum 25 double spaced pages) is an opportunity for students to frame their practice within a broader theoretical and historical context. This will give them the necessary tools to discuss and position their practice within a larger professional context, including exhibition venues, museums, curators, critics and collectors.

Working in close consultation with members of the M.F.A. thesis committee, students will develop a scholarly evaluation of their artistic practice, paying particular attention to the following issues, where appropriate:

1. Historical precursors
2. Theoretical concerns
3. Issues of mediation, narrative, genre and authorship
4. Modes of production, exhibition, distribution
5. Viewer/User/Audience reception and or participation
6. The work's relationship to extant and future art developments and institutions

Thesis deadlines: Spring Quarter of graduating year (see Calendar Pages 8-9). Thesis document is to be submitted in both paper and digital versions to be archived by the department and university library. You will receive a "Guidelines for the M.F.A. Thesis Document, Exhibition and Graduation" for specific information and requirements for both the M.F.A. show and thesis document as you enter your 2nd year in the program.

A student's thesis exhibition and document must be reviewed and approved by all thesis committee members. See grad advisor for guidelines on the written thesis, specific graduate candidacy deadlines, and additional information. Please note that the first draft of thesis documents will be due toward the beginning of Winter quarter (of 2nd year) for preliminary review by all committee members.

Units:
As part of the requirements for the M.F.A. degree, graduate students must complete a total of 72 units which must be distributed in the following manner:

I. Critique/Practicum (36 units)
An opportunity for students to acquire direct feedback on their own studio work through group seminar critique and independent study.

courses in this area:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>244</td>
<td>Graduate seminar in critique (4 units per course)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>261</td>
<td>Graduate seminar in visual arts/all faculty (2 units per course, 1st year)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>591</td>
<td>Directed studies/independent study in studio (2-4 units per course)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

requirements:
- 16 units of 244 (two courses in the first year, and two in the second)
- 4 units of 261 (additional units will NOT count toward degree)
- 16 units of 591, done with Art Department faculty focusing on studio work
II. Theory /Criticism (12 units)
An opportunity for students to gain an understanding of larger issues that inform the field of art production. Approved graduate level theory courses in other departments may also apply―see Grad. Advisor.

courses in this area:
245* Graduate theory seminar (4 units per course)
* Equivalent graduate-level courses can be taken outside of the department with approval from the faculty grad advisor.
595 Directed historical reading/research / (4 units per course) - approved by Faculty Advisor as graduate theory course. This is an independent study done for theory credit with a faculty member.

requirements:
- minimum 12 units of 245 or 595 or equivalent. Graduate level theory courses can be taken either in a related department, or in the Art Department. If taking a course outside of the Art Department for theory credit, you must get approval from the faculty graduate advisor.

III. M.F.A. Preparatorial (12 units)

courses in this area:
593 M.F.A. thesis project independent study (2-4 units per course)
260 M.F.A. Exhibition Prep

requirements:
- 8 units of 593 (taken during the second year of study)
- 4 units of 260 (Taken in final quarter of study)

IV. Elective Study (12 units)
Any graduate level courses (i.e. numbered 200 or above) taught within, or outside, the Art Department, including those from the department of History of Art and Architecture, and other courses approved by the faculty graduate advisor. The faculty recommend that at least one elective be taken in a department other than Art. If interested in an undergraduate course, the student must contact the instructor and initiate the process of enrolling in Art 594 independent study, including discussing a course plan for adapting the class material to a graduate level (which may include more complex projects/papers, additional meetings outside of class, and additional readings.)

courses in this area:
213 Digital Intermedia 2 – Experimental Video/Animation
595 Directed Historical Reading/Research (4 units per course)
- Graduate courses offered by the Dept. of History of Art and Architecture
- All other approved UC coursework (see faculty grad advisor for approval)
594 Special Studies in Studio Art (for receiving credit for undergrad courses.)
591 For taking additional independent studies with Art Faculty.
V. Teaching Assistant Practicum (note: no unit credit applies toward degree)
A paid (quarterly) assistantship awarded by the Department. Graduate students may enroll in TA units (4 per TAship) to receive "credit" (and a grade, S or U) for their teaching experience, as well as to help maintain a 12-units per quarter load mandated by the University for financial aid eligibility and full time graduate student status. However, Teaching Assistantship units do not count toward any graduate degree requirements as dictated by UC policies.

courses in this area:  501  Teaching Assistant Practicum (4 units per quarter)
(Please consult with Staff Graduate Advisor to receive "codes" for registering these units.)

* Mandatory attendance at both Graduate Division and departmental TA Training & Orientation meetings is required at the beginning of fall quarter in order to be eligible for hiring as a TA.

Sample Schedule:
Students should enroll in at least 12 units per quarter for a six-quarter total of 72 units in order to meet the minimum requirements of the MFA. (Note: 8 units per quarter is the absolute minimum required by the University to maintain financial aid eligibility and full-time graduate student status.) All units counting towards the M.F.A. degree must be taken for a letter grade.

The following proposed schedule is designed to encourage group interaction in the initial Fall quarter, and independent research in the Winter and Spring quarter of each school year. This schedule is an example of what your two years of study might look like (Blue = must be taken during that quarter):

Areas of Interdisciplinary Graduate Research

Areas of research within the graduate program are described below as separate divisions. However, the Department of Art actively promotes a cross-disciplinary approach to art production, and thus, a specialization in a particular medium or curriculum area is not required or assumed. It is up to the individual student to design their study program specific to their needs within the prescribed course offerings and degree requirements.

THEORY & CRITICISM
The study of theory and criticism is an essential part of the graduate program. Students are given many opportunities to undertake such study and there are several required courses in theory and criticism. Each year, the Department of Art offers a number of graduate seminar courses exploring concepts at issue in the contemporary art world. Key texts in the study of art practice, feminism, ethnicity, race, sexuality, mass culture, communication, technology, structuralism, post-structuralism, modernism, postmodernism and deconstruction may be addressed in these classes. In addition, students are required to attend a more informal all-faculty seminar and art symposium ("colloquium"); in this seminar, faculty members discuss their own concerns and research and invite a guest speaker from off-campus in their related field (note that only in a student’s first year are they required to enroll in colloquium for 2 units. During their second year, they are still recommended to attend but no longer need to enroll.) In addition to the theory and criticism offerings within the Department of Art, students have access to course offerings throughout the university in related areas of study. These include excellent courses in the study of art history, women’s studies, film studies, comparative literature, sociology, ethnic studies, and other areas of interest.

DIGITAL AND INTERACTIVE MEDIA/DIGITAL VIDEO
The eStudio and the mStudio in the Department of Art are interdisciplinary labs used by undergraduate and graduate students. Research in the eStudio is increasingly focused on the development of interactive installations, DVD authoring, video production, telecommunications and related research. Research in the mStudio is focused on digital imaging and print as well as digital video and animation. Electronic arts classes are conducted at the New Media Center in Kerr Hall, the MCL labs, and the CAD lab in the College of Engineering, as well as through the MAT graduate program.

GRADUATE PAINTING
Students wishing to pursue painting as part of their graduate studies are encouraged to seek out both permanent faculty and visiting lecturers who may be interested in their painting concerns. However, this does not have to be exclusively with those who teach painting. Rather, students are encouraged to also meet with faculty whose own research interests would benefit them (in non-media specific ways), in order to develop their conceptual and intellectual interests in relation to any material or technical approach. The graduate studios are ideally equipped for those working in a variety of 2D media. However, the use of any hazardous materials (including paint solvents) is solely the responsibility of the user. Please follow manufacturer’s guidelines and suggestions carefully in the use of all materials employed for your creative projects and be considerate of those around you. Ideally work outside when using spray paint or toxic materials if possible. A fully equipped woodshop is accessible 24 hrs/day (on campus) for constructing canvases and other project needs. If you have not yet received technical training from Michael (the lab technician) please make an appointment ASAP for advice on machine use and permission to use the facilities.
PHOTOGRAPHY
The program in photography promotes a conceptual, experimental approach to image-making with less emphasis on traditional techniques. Students are encouraged to apply the medium of photography to other artistic forms such as assemblage, installation, painting, performance, print, video, etc. The graduate program in this area is strongly self-directed, supported with a full-professor and frequent visiting artists who bring a range of perspectives. Image-making technology is available through interface with the computer imaging program (see Electronic Art and Theory/eStudio & mStudio area descriptions).

PRINT
Traditionally an area that concentrated primarily on teaching intaglio and lithographic printmaking, in recent years the “Print” area has focused not only on how prints are made but also on when and why they are used. With its concern for the individual print, the sequential use of pictorial information, the inter-media aspects of image and text, and the book as an expressive form, “Print” incorporates hand produced, mechanically or photographically reproduced, and electronically replicated media. The print shop is fully equipped for traditional and contemporary approaches to making and using prints and images. A limited amount of studio space is available for graduate students who wish to concentrate in this area or pursue specific projects with undergraduates, faculty, or visiting artists.

SPATIAL STUDIES/ NEW FORMS
The Spatial Studies/New Forms program supports advanced, interdisciplinary research and critical discourse in the expanding field of traditional sculpture toward new forms. The curriculum is designed to encourage the student’s individual development of conceptual and aesthetic issues within and outside the realm of traditional object-making practice. Special topic seminar courses address evolving contemporary art theory and practice. Subjects for investigation include but are not limited to: art + objecthood, manual labor + technology, site specificity, installation, intermedia collaboration, and public art. Cross-media exploration with other disciplines is strongly encouraged.

The Spatial Studies facilities are designed for multiple applications in the production of both small and large scale work, including installation, object making, alternative processes, and earthworks. The area is equipped with an excellent, fully functional studio and a large semi-sheltered outdoor work yard. The Department maintains excellent shops for student use in wood, metal and other 3-dimensional materials and methods. The area is well-staffed with permanent, highly-skilled technicians who hold degrees in the area.

NARRATIVE/SPOKEN WORD
The performance program incorporates both audience-oriented performance and the conceptual engagement of everyday life rituals, experiences, and daily activities into one’s art making. Students have the opportunity to explore and engage in the use of the body, personal narrative, audience interaction/input, chance, play, and the combination/collaboration of performance with other media through a variety of exercises and performance opportunities. Working space is available in several experimental spaces on and off campus. The performance program is strongly supported by a tenured faculty member and numerous visiting artists and lecturers.
GRADUATE COURSE OFFERINGS

The courses listed below are intended for graduate students only. Not all courses are offered every quarter. Most courses may be repeated for credit. Courses numbered 244 and 591 are considered studio courses. 245, 246, 594 and 595 are considered non-studio courses. For courses that may be taken for a variable number of units (e.g. 501, 591, 593), the range of available units is listed in parentheses after the course title. Please review the M.F.A. degree requirements to better understand which of these courses are required, and when.

213  Digital Intermedia 2 – Experimental Video/Animation (4)
The development of innovative projects in video and animation, including installation and projection.

244  Graduate Seminar in Critique (4)
A seminar focusing on group criticism of current studio work. Proof of minimum three studio visits required.

245  Art Studio Graduate Seminar (4)
A general non-studio seminar for graduate students. Content will vary depending on instructor, but will usually emphasize art history, theory, or criticism and will include lecture, reading and discussion. Taken for theory credit.

246  Post M.F.A. (4)
Seminar will address problems of professionalism and survival for graduating M.F.A. students. Portfolios, resumes, commercial galleries, alternate spaces, sales and commission policies, studio spaces, art world politics, taxes, etc., will be discussed by faculty and guest speakers. *Note: this course is currently on hiatus due to the retirement of the faculty member previously in charge of its instruction.

260  Graduate Seminar in Visual Arts (4)
A means of making special studies and meeting special curricular problems. You will take Art 260: Thesis Exhibition during your final quarter while working with the AD&A Museum to mount your final thesis exhibition.

261  Graduate Seminar in Visual Arts/All Faculty (2, repeat once; total 4)
Seminar that may emphasize studio and/or non-studio work. Topics vary according to course instructor. All Faculty - Introduces students to the work of the faculty and their current interests. Required first Fall and Spring quarter.

501  Teaching Assistant Practicum (1-4)
Practice of teaching art. (Note: please enroll with individual instructor code of the instructor for which you are assistant teaching. These units do not apply toward the 72 academic units required in the M.F.A. program

591  Directed Study for the M.F.A. (2-12)
Independent/Individual tutorial with supervising faculty person. M.F.A. 591 petition describing independent project must be filed for each 591 (available on department TA resources Canvas page.) Structure to be determined in consultation with the supervising faculty member but typically consists of 3-4 meetings per quarter to work on a specific proposed project or objective. The credit load (2 or 4 credits) should reflect the scale and ambition of the proposed work, with a higher credit load indicating substantial self-directed study (per campus policies, 1 unit = 3 hours of work per week on the part of the student. So, 4 units = roughly 12 hours per week.)

593  M.F.A. Thesis Project (2-12)
Individual research for graduate students in preparation for their comprehensive exhibitions and theses for the M.F.A. degree. Structure is similar to a normal 591 independent study (typically meeting regularly with faculty member 3-4 times per quarter) with the specific, proposed project or objective being to work on one’s thesis (this can focus on studio work, writing/research, or a combination of both.)

594  Special Studies Seminar (4)
For meeting special curricular problems.

595  Directed Historical Reading and Research (4)
Independent research involving extensive reading and written essay on a particular period, artist or body of work. Structure is similar to 591 independent study, with the specific focus being on research and writing, and these units can count towards theory credits with faculty grad advisor approval.

Please keep in mind that lecturers and visiting faculty are contracted on a per-course basis, and are thus not given additional compensation for taking on independent studies or serving on thesis committees. It is recommended that you primarily focus on working with ladder faculty in doing directed studies. The department website (and this very handbook) has a full list of ladder faculty for your reference.
TEACHING ASSISTANT GUIDELINES

Introduction
The purpose of these guidelines is to clarify the various roles and responsibilities of both supervising faculty and apprenticeship Teaching Assistants (TAs) towards the common goal of excellence of teaching undergraduate courses. We believe that the quality of undergraduate education is best served when faculty and TAs work cooperatively & effectively together. These guidelines will help to clarify the department's process of selecting and evaluating TAs, and to outline provisions and opportunities for TA training. General teaching responsibilities for both faculty and TAs are carefully spelled out by the University and can be found in The Academic Personnel Manual. Additional information is available in the "Department of Art TA Handbook". You may have yourself taped while TAing; the tape may then be reviewed/analyzed by a faculty mentor with whom you can discuss the tape confidentially. For more information, call the TA Development Program at x3341.

TA appointments are usually made on a quarterly basis, but some students are promised a specific number of TA appointments for their first year, and in very exceptional cases, for two years.

TA Roles and Responsibilities

1) The TA is required to work with the supervising faculty to assist in the teaching of an assigned course. Although the faculty member is ultimately responsible for all aspects of the course, the TA may collaborate in varying degrees to assist with planning of class assignments, demonstration presentations, occasional lectures, section planning, and grading. The degree of collaboration is usually determined by mutual consent, depending on the closeness of the faculty-TA relationship, the teaching method of the supervising faculty member, and the ability and skill of the TA. It is the mutual responsibility of the TA and the faculty member to communicate questions and problems to each other regarding teaching materials, techniques, equipment, or other related factors which affect the fulfillment of their separate duties. If the TA feels that their responsibilities have not been adequately defined they should seek clarification from the faculty member. Please see the Department TA Handbook for further details.

2) The title "Teaching Assistant" implies a strong support role while working with a faculty member in a course. The common goal of improved undergraduate education and excellence in teaching should be the overriding factor towards this mutual cooperation and understanding. Because of the experimental nature of most art studio courses which are "laboratory" oriented and usually emphasize a strong degree of individual creativity, the role of the TA is oftentimes noticeably different from conventional academic courses. The TA should assist the faculty member in demonstrating and explaining concepts and techniques that are introduced in the course, participate in critique sessions, perhaps give an occasional lecture or demonstration, provide individual advice and guidance for students when appropriate, and generally lend whatever help is needed in a supportive role.

3) The normal appointment for an Art Dept. TA is one course per quarter at 25% time, with an average workload of 10 hours per week. Most courses meet twice weekly for 3 hours at each session, for a total of 6 "contact hours" of teaching per week. An additional 3-4 hours per week of "studio or shop supervision" or "office hours" are required (depending on the nature of the course). Areas of supervision must be approved by the Lab Assistant. When applicable, these hours will be determined by the department, faculty, and student. Every attempt possible to honor individual preferences for the scheduling of these additional hours will be made. TAs are asked to hold office or lab hours to provide... adequate opportunity for students to have reasonable dialogue with the TA. Please let the office know your office hours by the second week of classes.

4) The responsibilities of the TA for the above mentioned "studio or shop supervision" may include the following. The TA is responsible for:

   A) Unlocking the assigned space at the beginning of the designated time and locking it back up at the end of this period before leaving.
   B) Being present in the studio at all times during this designated period, even if other students are not present.
   C) The TA should be available to assist any students who need help during this studio or shop supervision period.
   D) Cleanliness and maintenance of their assigned area.
   E) Review of concepts, images, materials, etc. discussed in class.
   F) Research and assist with PowerPoint etc. for class lectures.

Faculty Roles and Responsibilities

1) Faculty members are responsible for all aspects of a given course, including its instruction and content, course assignments, exams, and grading. However, this does not preclude the collaboration of TAs in these matters. It is important that the faculty member clearly communicate their expectations for a teaching assistant to the TA.

2) The concept of apprenticeship implies that the faculty member should provide some measure of "active tutelage" for the TA. This might include meetings with the TA to discuss teaching methods and philosophy, course goals and objectives, general course planning, and criteria for student evaluation and grading. The faculty member should provide the TA with enough information about the course and their role and responsibilities so that the TA is secure with the content, organization, and presentation of all material.

3) Because of the unequal nature of the student-teacher/TA-faculty relationship and potential for intimidation, it is the responsibility of the supervising faculty member to create an atmosphere where communication is open and without threat. Likewise, effective teaching by TAs demands credibility in their role as teachers. Therefore, observations of TAs by faculty should be conducted carefully and should not jeopardize the TAs rapport and standing with students.

4) Faculty is encouraged to provide feedback and constructive criticism to the TA regarding their teaching effectiveness. This should be based on direct observation with the objective of enhancing teaching ability. Formal evaluations allow both faculty and TAs to assess their teaching effectiveness (available the following quarter from the Art office).

5) Faculty members are responsible for all instructional equipment used in a course, including providing adequate information concerning the operation of such equipment to both TAs and students who need access to it. The TA may be considered as qualified personnel for such equipment with proper faculty training.

6) Instructors and/or TAs are responsible for arranging the return of course materials directly to enrolled students at the end of each quarter. Materials for pick up may not be left in the Art Department office (see the facilities manager for further info.).
TA Salary Compensation
As a TA in the Department of Art, you are typically employed at 25% time which comes with an average workload of 10 hours per week (at 50% time, this average is 20 hours per week.) Your salary is approx. ~$4,850 per quarter (at 25% time, at salary step 1.) You are paid on the 1st day of the month following the month you worked (November 1-July 1). Depending on the quarter at hand, students who are employed at least 25%, and in certain positions (such as a TA), are eligible to receive a TA fee offset. Health insurance is mandatory for all graduate students. If you are TAing (at 25% time or more), the cost for the insurance is covered by the University. If you are not TAing, the cost must be paid by you. If you are covered by another insurance company, and would like to remain under their coverage, please see Student Health website for info on how to waive the mandatory UC insurance.

Please keep in mind that in order for the Registrar to note your fee offset, you must register at least 8 units for that quarter at the earliest opportunity. Please also note that, although they do not count towards your degree, the 4 units of Art 501 (TAship) will count towards these required units for the purpose of fee offset.

UCSB ACRONYM LIST

Ucsb loves its acronyms, and it can be confusing as a new student keeping track of them all! Here is a list of the major ones and their various uses, along with the accounts/websites connected to them:

BARC - This is the billing account you will use to manage your financial transactions (pay student fees, tuition, receive stipends and fellowships, as well as pay for services such as student health.) Note that financial matters relating to employment with the university are in the realm of UCpath, not BARC.

GOLD - You will use GOLD to manage and register for courses, as well as view your own grades, registration deadlines, and some data on degree progress.

UCPATH - This is where the information relating to your employment with the university is housed, such as information on paychecks, employee data, tax forms (such as W2) and employment benefits.

Other Useful Apps/Pages:

Curriculum Search - useful for doing quick course search/browsing by department without needing to log into GOLD.

EGrades - you will utilize egrades when working as a TA, mostly to view the class roster, as well as to enter and submit grades to the instructor if assigned to duties relating to course grades as a TA.

Docusign - All students have access to a DocuSign account for legal digital signing of papers. More information on how to access your account can be found here.

Gradpost - a graduate student blog with information about campus news, funding, professional development, events, and more. They maintain a list of sample fellowship and grant proposals as well as career, teaching, and fellowship workshops.

EVENT PLANNING/ DEPARTMENT FUNDING

Throughout your time at UCSB, you may be asked to organize events (receptions, exhibitions, etc.) involving the purchase of refreshments, other supplies, and/or services. It is very important to always consult Art Dept. staff BEFORE initiating any such event to assure that the proper procedures are followed. Procedures pertain to the ways in which materials or services are to be paid, and under no circumstances should any students be hiring anyone -- this must be done by faculty with department authorization. The UCSB bureaucracy, especially concerning funding and reimbursement, is very complicated and it’s important to thoroughly understand any and all procedures prior to taking action. As a public university, UCSB has limitations as to what university/department funds can be utilized for and only department staff, specifically, our Finance and Budget Manager Christian Brown, in consultation with the faculty and Chair, can authorize these expenditures.
GRADUATE PEER ADVISING AND OTHER ASSISTANCE
There are several graduate students who serve as peer advisors each quarter at the Graduate Division offices; they help run the "Graduate Student Peer Advisors Program." They can be reached in person (Graduate Student Resource Center (GSRC) Student Resource Building 1215), by phone (893.8994), or by email (peers@graddiv.ucsb.edu). The peers are especially trained to deal with a wide range of issues in order to make life more comfortable for graduate students. They can assist students in need of advice or assistance with taking better advantage of campus resources and services.

UCSB CAREER SERVICES
The Career Service provides assistance to graduate students in many ways. Some of these are: exploring academic and non-academic career options; assistance in preparing resumes and/or curriculum vitae; workshops in “Interview Skills for Graduate Students” and “Writing a Resume/Vita”; reference letter service. Career Services is located in Building 599.

INFORMATION, INFORMATION, INFORMATION
Every graduate student in the Art Department has a mailbox provided in the department mailroom and grad lounge (Building 534, Room 1322). Often department announcements, upcoming shows, petitions, and TA information may be put in these boxes. Also, students may communicate with their TA by this means (as the mailroom remains open during business hours). Please check your box daily. Also in the mail room is a computer that you can use to print/work on documents from. The password for this computer is “gradlounge.” Since this computer is shared, it’s recommended that you log out of personal email accounts and backup then delete any personal files you worked on before logging off.

Many books are available in the Arts Library regarding art job opportunities and online. If you come across any interesting information regarding these matters please post them in the mailroom or email your peers.

ACCESS CARD
Your UCSB Identification and Access card are one in the same, and will prove indispensable while at UCSB. Students can go to the Information Center in the main UCen lobby (above the food court) from 10:00am - 4:00pm to have their photo taken and card made (for a fee). Students must present registration slips to prove that fees have been paid in order to receive the card. Visit https://ucsbaccesscard.com for info. Access cards can also be used as debit cards providing funds are deposited on them. They are widely accepted on campus in the bookstore and dining areas as well as some restaurants in Isla Vista.

E-MAIL
Most faculty, staff and students communicate via email. To set up a free email account, students may visit the website http://www.umail.ucsb.edu/ from any campus Net Station or off campus computer with Internet access. You must be registered to set up an email account.

RESIDENCY
Information on how to become a resident of the state of California can be obtained from the Office of the Registrar. For those coming from out-of-state, please note that being considered a resident of California in other contexts is not necessarily the same as being considered a Resident of California for tuition purposes. More information on establishing residency for tuition purposes can be found here: https://registrar.sa.ucsb.edu/fees-residency/residency/uc-residence-policy
Beyond the Residency Staff in the Office of the Registrar, no other University personnel (including Megan) are authorized to supply information regarding residence requirements for tuition. Contact: residency@sa.ucsb.edu with any questions.

LIBRARY SERVICES
Library Orientation/Research tours are highly recommended in order to become acquainted with the many resources the several libraries have to offer. The Art collection is in the Davidson Library on the 1st floor on the mountain side of the building. Also, holdings at non-UC libraries are available through a fabulous system called Inter-library loan. You may receive extended privileges if a faculty member will cosign for you as a proxy. Please see staff at any of the many libraries for information on how to receive a graduate student library and/or "proxy" card.

IMAGE RESOURCES COLLECTION
UCSB has a wonderful, extensive Image Resources Collection (located in room Arts Room 1245). Images are available through an extensive digital archive. See Jackie Spafford (x2509) for further information or to make an appointment to review material.

PARKING ON CAMPUS
Parking passes are available to those who live at least two miles outside campus perimeters. Quarterly or yearly passes may be purchased at the Parking Services trailer (across from Harder Stadium, Bldgs. 381-388). Please visit or call their office for more information (x2346). If you are on Central Fellowship, you will be able to purchase a pass similar to Staff. They will have your name at the Parking Services trailer. To use a 20-minute loading zone at Harder Stadium and the Arts Building (or any other loading zones on campus), you MUST have a valid campus parking permit; otherwise, you will get a ticket (about $55).

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION
Registered UCSB students (with a valid ID card with a valid sticker you can get via GOLD) can ride the MTD buses free of charge. The 20-minute express bus (no. 24x) runs from the downtown area to campus every ½ hour or so from the early morning into the early evening. Call MTD for further schedule information (683-3702) or http://www.sbmtd.gov/.

SURPLUS SALES (cheap furniture!)
UCSB Surplus Sales is used by campus to offload campus property (usually furniture) at very cheap prices. This can be a great means to getting basic furniture for your studios (shelves, chairs, tables, etc.) inexpensively (or free). They are also conveniently located just down the road from Harder, right next to the main campus mail office on Mesa Rd (search “UCSB Surplus Sales” on google maps- it’s just Northwest of Harder on Mesa Rd.) Be sure to check the website before going, as the hours can vary wildly based on the time of year and availability of stock.

EXHIBITING AND NETWORK OPPORTUNITIES
There are many opportunities for graduate students to exhibit on campus, in the local arts community and in Los Angeles, through established department connections with arts professionals and a variety of affiliated venues. In fact, many of our recent graduate students have exhibited or are represented by highly reputable galleries in California and nationally, further providing an expanding network of future possibilities. Faculty has also been instrumental in bringing our graduates to the attention of gallerists and curators, in addition to providing a variety of professional opportunities both during candidacy and after graduation. Students are encouraged to make exhibition proposals and to seek out additional sites.
and opportunities while in the program. They are also expected to keep in mind that it is essential to maintain a balance of activities and to ensure that all course requirements are met.

On-Campus Arts/Exhibition Venues

Art Design & Architecture Museum
Gabriel Ritter, Director
phone: (805) 893-4564
www.museum.ucsb.edu
Located in the Art Department complex, the museum has hosted both graduate and undergraduate exhibitions in the past (most recently the class of 2019). We greatly encourage you to invite the students in your classes, especially for 7-series and 1A sections, for visits if current exhibitions can be incorporated into your class discussions.

Glass Box Gallery/ Student Gallery Arts Building
Glass Box Gallery is the Art Department's student-run exhibition space in the Arts building that features current creative endeavors by students and faculty at the University of California, Santa Barbara. The gallery is available for one-week exhibitions throughout the Spring, Fall, and Winter quarters. Glass Box Gallery exhibits work in all media and provides students an opportunity to showcase their talents and engage in curatorial experience and professionalism. It can also be a great idea to incorporate visits to the gallery into your TA section planning if relevant/desired.

Calls for Glass Box Gallery weekly reservations are quarterly distributed via email by the MFA student TA/Gallery Manager for that quarter. Spaces are reserved on a first-come, first-serve basis with the following groups considered (in order of priority): Arts faculty, Graduate Students, Undergraduate Honors students, College of Creative Studies students, and all Art Majors properly enrolled and registered that quarter at the University of California, Santa Barbara.

Please visit http://www.arts.ucsb.edu to check out more detailed information about Glass Box Gallery under the list of Art Department Facilities. Please direct any additional questions and/or concerns to the Gallery Manager TA at the time (will be a fellow MFA grad student!)

For info on the Red Barn space, contact Alex Lukas (alexlukas@ucsb.edu). This secondary exhibition space is only used by Art Department faculty and grads (for example, it hosts the annual First Year Review exhibition for the MFAs.) It also is home to a few faculty studios, and is located near the Bus loop, Northeast of CAPS. Grad students sometimes wish to utilize this space depending on their needs.

UCen Lobby
There is a small area in the UCen (opposite Starbucks) that is available for 2D works (though keep in mind, it has no insurance or security). For information, visit the UCen administrative office located on the second floor.

Cheadle Hall
The third floor of Cheadle Hall has a display case in a high traffic area facing the elevator which they have been willing to make available for art projects on a case by case basis. For information, contact Graduate Division.

CCS Gallery
This well-kept exhibition space is used mostly for undergraduates in the College of Creative Studies and exhibitions are curated by CCS faculty. If available, however, CCS does seem willing to entertain other possibilities...so it is worth inquiring in the event that there isn’t space in the Glassbox or Red Barn. Contact CCS faculty Dan Connally.

Women, Gender & Sexual Equity Center Gallery
The Gallery space is located in the new Student Resources Building, used as a conference room. Each exhibition is installed for the duration of one quarter and features art that explores themes of gender and social justice. Due to space limitations, large-scale 3D work cannot be accepted.

Local Venues/Organizations off Campus

The Santa Barbara Museum of Art (SBMA)
1130 State Street, Santa Barbara, CA 93101
http://www.sbmuseart.org
phone: (805) 963-4364

The Santa Barbara Art Museum houses a large, permanent collection which includes some excellent examples of historical American art as well as an Asian collection, a growing contemporary collection and regular lectures on contemporary art. A yearly student membership is only $25 and includes free admission to exhibitions and invitations to special events. Visit their website for more information.

Museum of Contemporary Art, Santa Barbara (MCASB)
Paseo Nuevo Upper Arts Terrace
653 Paseo Nuevo
Santa Barbara, CA 93101
MCASB is a non-collecting contemporary art museum. Exhibitions at the Main Space location rotate three times annually and are typically on view for fourteen weeks. Visitors are encouraged to check the exhibition calendar to ensure a visit when the Museum is open to the public.

SB CAST
SBCAST is a live/work creative design and development community located in downtown Santa Barbara. The community consists of full-time, accomplished, working “multi-disciplinary” residents who focus on the juxtaposition of art, science and technology. The intent of SBCAST is to provide a shared creative environment to promote thought and action. https://sbcast.org/

Sullivan Goss
Established in 1984, Sullivan Goss – An American Gallery has represented the work of American artists for 35 years. We offer approximately twenty exhibitions each year, including solo shows for contemporary and historic artists as well as curated thematic exhibitions. Through its research efforts, Sullivan Goss is also involved with scholarship and research for American artists. Our gallery’s website is one of the internet’s best sites for information about American art from 1850 to today. We also have an active publication program.

LUM art magazine
Santa Barbara-based contemporary art magazine for California’s Central Coast. Lum is independent and founded on a collaborative and open approach to arts writing. We aim to seamlessly blend the clarity of journalism with the power of art criticism. Debra Herrick, the Editor-in-Chief, often attends Art Department and local Museum events. MFA alumni Madeleine Ignon and Tom Pazderka also write for Lum. https://www.lumartzine.com/

Los Angeles Galleries
Gallery guides listing contemporary art venues and museums, addresses and directions are available in the Art Department office. https://curate.la is also a great resource for exhibitions and other art events. Artforum also has an LA gallery ArtGuide here.
Studio Policies

GRADUATE STUDIOS
Studio space and equipment are available for study in sculpture, photography, video, ceramics, intermedia (new forms), computer, painting/drawing, and printmaking. For information on equipment and facilities, you are welcome to talk to the lab assistants or faculty for more information.

GRADUATE STUDIOS DEPT. POLICY:

1. Studios have been provided for your use in the research and production of art work only. Although you will spend a considerable amount of time in them, they are not living spaces nor storage units. It is against university regulations to live in the spaces provided as studios. Spaces should be fully functional at all times, containing only materials necessary for your work.

2. Adjacent hallways and passageways should not be utilized to store, display or produce work. If you need to utilize space outside of your designated studio, you should acquire permission from the appropriate staff supervisor. All materials, stretcher bars, etc. should be kept inside spaces and not placed outside your assigned studios.

3. SECURITY - Your studio keys open the three exterior doors and the gate. For your safety, entrances should be locked by 5 PM and on the weekends. Outside gates must be locked at all times. When activities are taking place at the stadium, exit doors and gates should be locked for the security of persons and belongings.

4. Studio Spaces should not be modified significantly. Spaces are assigned to you clean and with fresh paint and should be left that way at the conclusion of your residency. Please notify and retrieve permissions from the appropriate staff supervisor if you need to make any adjustments to your space such as hanging devices, paint changes, etc.

5. It is expected that you will keep your assigned studio areas neat and orderly, including common hallways, sinks, shop areas, etc. Cleaning equipment such as floor mops, a shop vacuum, brooms and dustpans are provided in order to maintain your spaces properly.

6. Noise - Please respect each other’s space and privacy. Keep your radios low in volume. Personal headphones are highly recommended when listening to music or sounds, especially when others are conducting studio visits.

7. Parking - Parking is limited to areas designated as student areas. See campus parking for policy. For loading and unloading, you must have a parking pass for that time and day and adhere to 20-minute limits in loading zone areas only. Tickets are issued with great frequency on this campus. If quickly loading/unloading in the Harder loading zone, close gate behind you while loading/unloading and keep parking time to less than 20 minutes to avoid likelihood of ticketing.

8. If you have been assigned studio space and are not using it, please notify the facilities manager, so another person may utilize the space.
9. The Environmental, Health and Safety Department will inspect the studios on a regular basis. Art Department staff will inspect all areas once a week.

10. Material disposal: Properly dispose of your trash and recycling regularly. There are large dumpsters outside at the end of the stadium. A push cart has been provided for your use. Please return it to the area just inside the roll-up door.

11. The Department will supply padlocks and keys for all studio spaces. Do not buy your own lock.

12. Please report any concerns, need for repairs, lamp replacement, etc. to Facilities Manager.

13. You are expected to release studio space promptly at the termination of your two years of graduate study (on Monday Jul 10-17 depending upon the year). Studios are to be left in good order as you found them:

   a. Every single hole in the walls is patched, sanded, and painted.
   b. Any stain or residue on the walls from paint, other art supplies, scuff marks, etc. is either sanded, primed over, or cleaned prior to painting (there should be no evidence of its existence).
   c. You are required to roll a coat of department approved white paint (you may purchase this paint from Home Depot) on all walls of your studio.
   d. You must scrape and scrub all tape, stickers, stains, paint and any other spills from the floor, then sweep and mop the floor of your studio prior to moving out. If stains remain after mopping, you must paint the floor with department approved paint as well.
Department of Art Fire Safety Guideline (Graduate Students Studio)

1) Per California Code of Regulations, Title 19 § 3.19 Housekeeping. Combustible litter may not accumulate on the floor in un-sprinklered buildings. The entire area in general will need to have all work area floors cleared of combustible items and stored appropriately. Combustible art material needs to be stored in an orderly manner.

2) Remove all flammables and combustibles from the hall and common area. These areas need to remain clear for exiting purposes.

3) Solvent soaked rags should be disposed of daily per § 3.19 (c). The rags should be transported to a metal container with tight fitting lid in a flammable storage unit and have Environmental Health and Safety (EH and S) pick up the solvent soaked rags when the container is full. Regular pickups may be required to keep the flammable storage cabinet from over filling.

4) Couches and chairs should meet Technical Bulletin 116 and 117 standard for flame spread of commercial furniture, or be made from non-combustible materials such as metal or solid wood (must have a tag underneath with TB116 or TB117, or be obvious office furniture metal construction etc.). Home furnishing should not be used in a commercial building.

5) Room draperies and wall coverings need to be flame retardant. The use of pillow cases, foam and such to create wall barriers is prohibited. Please use flame retardant material for barriers or leave open.

6) Have EH and S pick up hazardous waste in and around the flammable storage cabinet as soon as possible.

7) Keep all exits clear. If these doors are blocked by storage, call the Fire protection division to have them cleared immediately (893-7751).

8) Have ALL cabinets, bookshelves and storage lockers over 42” seismically braced per campus policy. This is especially important as earthquakes are relatively common in California / the Santa Barbara area.

I agree to the terms and conditions above and understand I will be charged to my BARC account for not complying.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT: a selected list

GRADUATE DIVISION AWARDS:

Awards listed below are administered by the Graduate Division. These awards are applicable to either first or second year M.F.A. students. For more detailed information see/call a Financial Advisor in the Graduate Division (x2710) or the Graduate Program Assistant or Faculty Advisor in the Art Department.

Graduate Opportunity Fellowships (GOF)
For underrepresented graduate students in their fields. Students must show academic promise as demonstrated by portfolio, GPA, statement of purpose, and letters of recommendation. Eligible first-year students are nominated and will be contacted by the Graduate Committee (so no need for grads to specifically apply.)

ART DEPARTMENT AWARDS:

Administered by the Department of Art, the following award amounts vary. Ask the Staff Graduate Advisor or the Faculty Graduate Advisor for additional information.

Teaching Assistantships
Awarded quarterly by the Department to students with a strong display of scholarship. Award salary depends on experience and percentage of appointment (25-50% time.) A typical TAship in the Art department also includes the benefits of a "TA FEE OFFSET", which amounts to 100% of the quarterly “in-state” education and registration fee amount, and coverage of graduate student health insurance for the quarter. No application necessary. See "TA section" in this handbook for more complete information.

Israel Levitan Awards
These are extramural fellowships awarded to students as part of their departmental stipend packages (any student not already receiving funding from a campus central fellowship.)

Santa Barbara Art Association
This award is $1000 for a continuing student chosen by the Faculty.

ADDITIONAL AWARDS AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT:

Steve and Barbara Mendell Graduate Fellowship in Cultural Literacy
Application usually out by early April. Fellowship for outstanding graduate students in the College of Letters and Science at UCSB (Humanities and Fine Arts, Social Sciences, Science) whose research or programs of study advance the goals of broad-based cultural literacy and high ethical standards in our participative democracy. Although the scope of possible research topics for funding is wide, all such topics must relate to some aspect of contemporary values and ethics in the “public sphere,” such as the importance of civility and tolerance, appreciation for pluralism and human rights, understanding better how public issues are framed, ways in which social conflict is resolved, improving and extending democratic practice, and the role of public humanities generally in society. Support may be provided for dissertation fellowships, supplemental fellowships, summer stipends, or for special research projects.

Claudia D. Weitlanner Fellowship
Application sent out usually early March. Open to continuing grads who are finishing up their first year in the program. Awarded by UCSB Affiliates: ia-affiliates@ucsb.edu

Graduate Student (Council) Travel Grants
Monies to assist students with travel to conferences (where one has been invited to present a paper or exhibition, doing a residency during the Summer, etc.) Visit the Graduate Division office for info & application (3rd floor, Cheadle Hall). Second year graduate students eligible only - see http://www.gsa.ucsb.edu/funding/conference-travel-grant

Academic Senate Travel Grants
The Doctoral Student Travel Grant awards travel funds to graduate students who have been invited or selected to present a paper, present research, perform or exhibit at a major professional conference or meeting. Applicants must be doctoral students who are advanced to candidacy, or master of fine arts (M.F.A.) students who are in their second year of study and in candidacy prior to travel. Students are eligible to receive one Doctoral Student Travel Grant during their graduate career at UCSB. https://senate.ucsb.edu/grants/doctoral.student.travel/

Interdisciplinary Humanities Center - Awards research grants. Please see http://www.ihc.ucsb.edu/funding-opportunities for more information.
